
This map shows the current rapid-transit lines in Pittsburgh, but imagined as an integrated metro system. Nothing has changed except the designations of the lines, which are named by color. A little bit of marketing could change the public perception of transit in Pittsburgh.

You may copy this map, change it, and redistribute it in any way you like. Please refer to fatherpitt.wordpress.com so that the curious may trace the discussion back to its earlier stages.

METROPOLITAN
PITTSBURGH RAPID TRANSIT

BLUE LINE

Station Square, Mount Washington, Beltzhoover, Overbrook, Castle Shannon, South Park, Library

RED LINE

Station Square, Mt. Washington, Beltzhoover, Beechview, Dormont, Mt. Lebanon, Castle Shannon, South Hills Village

YELLOW LINE

Allentown, Arlington, Beltzhoover

GREEN LINE

Polish Hill, Shadyside, East Liberty, Homewood, Point Breeze, Wilkinsburg, Regent Square, Edgewood, Swissvale

ORANGE LINE

Sheraden, Ingram, Crafton, Carnegie

SILVER LINE

Station Square, Mt. Washington, Beltzhoover, Brookline, Overbrook

PURPLE LINE

Uptown, Bluff, Soho, Oakland